

Machine Learning (ML)

- Machine learning is a subset of artificial intelligence.
- Machine learning focuses on the development of the computer programs which have the access to data by providing system the ability to learn and improve automatically by finding patterns in the database without any human interventions or actions.

- This Blog with a video gives more details

(Right click on the link and open in a new tab/window)
TCS Confidential

TATA CONSULTANCY SERVICES